BY O. O. McINTYRE
Telegram Bureau: Rooms 121-125 Hotel Majestic, West Seventy-second Street.

New York, Aug. 18.—In appearance Carlo de Fornaro looks very much like a Jesuit priest and he keeps the hours of a brigand. He sleeps all day long at his bungalow on Staten Island and at night he wanders from cafe to cafe. Regardless of his cafe life, he drinks nothing stronger than water, but he smokes cigars incessantly.

RECORD OF THE PAST

No Stronger Evidence Can Be Had in Clarksburg.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back; any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from kidney ills, should find comforting words in the following statement.

Mrs. James Anderson, 370 Clay street, Clarksburg, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have given me relief from backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and the benefit has been permanent. I am pleased to recommend them."

A Second Statement.
After a lapse of over two years, Mrs. Anderson said: "All I have said recommending Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. They are the best medicine for sufferers from backache or other kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Anderson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Badie dropped a dime between the cracks of the floor of a stage at the Thanhouser studio. Probably the incident would have ended right there had the concern not hired the versatile Jerome Beatty as press agent. Now the whole matter has been brought to notice and improved upon. Workmen were tearing up the flooring at the same spot. They found a quarter. It was the coin Miss La Badie had dropped. Fifteen cents in interest had accumulated.

And, not satisfied with this, he hides his head with the shame of his admission, and writes: "Jack Girondo, the 'daredevil' actor, who risks his neck without batting an eye, recently went fishing and refused to bait his own hook because he was afraid of the worms."

TAKES LONG AUTO TRIP, TALKING SUFFRAGE

Two Workers for "the Cause" Motor from New York to Montana.

BUTTE, Mont., August 28.—Alice Smitzer Burke and Nell Richardson, in a little yellow car—"no bigger than that desk of yours," said Miss Burke—arrived in Butte from New York, having traveled 7,000 miles, mostly "over the worst roads in America," according to Miss Richardson.

The young women are traveling in the interest of national suffrage—national emancipation, they say—and especially to represent the National American Woman Suffrage Association of which Carrie Chapman Catt is president, and they are talking for the Anthony amendment.

The young women left New York City on April 6 after their journey and mission had been publicly blessed by Mrs. Catt. They trailed down the Atlantic seaboard to Atlanta and then went through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California and north through California, Oregon and Washington, and east through the latter state, Idaho and Montana. They remained in Butte one day and renewed their journey over the Yellowstone trail.

Will Fight for Good Roads.
"When I get through with this trip," declared Miss Burke, driver of the "Golden Flier," as their little yellow car is known, "I am going to take up the fight for good roads. It is a shame that this great and rich nation maintains such frightful roads, and I will be able to speak from some very intimate knowledge and sad experience."

"We found 200 patches of good roads here and there," said Miss Richardson, "and the best piece of road on the whole trip so far is between Drummond and Butte. Many big machines couldn't go where we went and had to turn back, especially to the north of San Francisco. Rain, floods and washouts have made portions of the roads almost impassable."

From an automobilist standpoint the trip has been remarkable. They have so far had little engine trouble and traveled 6,000 miles without a puncture of blowout. Just as they reached Spokane, having covered the 6,000 miles, they had a tire blowout, and once since leaving Spokane they have had one puncture.

The personal experiences of the venturesome young women have not been remarkable nor startling, except for the fact that they were lost for four days in the desert west of Phoenix and had to wait when their engine went dry twice.

Water Is Precious Stuff.
"My, but water, or anything that passes for it, tastes good on the desert," said Miss Richardson. "We had water in a bag for drinking purposes, but the machine went dry and we had to use it for the radiator. Then we got lost and by the time we found the trail we were out of water again and had to abandon the machine."

"We walked seven miles to the next stopping place and there found a hole which the signboard said was a well. We dug into it and found feathers and a dead chicken in the stuff called water. Say, but that stuff tasted good. Water on the desert is a funny water. The more you drink of it the more thirsty you get, but

It keeps you from dying." Somebody came along and brought their machine in and they resumed their trip, but the next night they again ran out of water and had to go back five miles for help. In time they got through the desert and reached San Diego.

In Bread of Kidnappers.
For days the young women traveled along the Mexican border without seeing a white man. They were never molested, though they feared kidnapping, because they had been so thoroughly advertised and were afraid that some Mexican bandits might get them and hold them for ransom.

They had to leave the regular trail several times because of war conditions. At one place they passed along the Rio Grande with Mexicans on one side and American soldiers on the other, both firing at each other while the automobile passed between.
